

Contents

Kamila Ziółkowska-Weiss

Introduction 3

Nydia Lorena Campos Apodaca, Noel Bonfilio Pineda Jaimes,

Marcela Virginia Santana Juárez

Geometric accessibility as a complementary variable to geographic accessibility in the study of spatial inequality in the Municipality of Metepec, State of Mexico 7

Mariusz Szubert

Education in the field of sightseeing at the academic level on the example of the Tourism and Recreation program at the University of the National Education Commission in Kraków 33

Kamil Bednarz, Dominik Jaśkowiec, Mateusz Zaręba

Artificial intelligence in political analysis: new horizons, opportunities, and challenges 55

Magdalena Kwiek, Anna Witek

Physical activity of students in sports- and recreation-related fields 71

Magdalena Kwiek, Agnieszka Bartoszek

The importance of extracurricular activities in children's psychomotor and emotional development from parents' perspective 89

Sebastian Kozubek

Jewish cultural heritage as a tourist asset of Kielce in the opinion of respondents 103

Sebastian Kozubek

Author's cultural itinerary in Kielce „Traces of Jewish Heritage” 121

Anna Diebel-Matsalak

The impact of movies and TV series on tourists' preference for choosing Turkey as a travel destination 141

Jakub Bober

Geotourism potential of the protected areas of Las Wolski in Kraków and its potential for use in the geoeducational process 155

Kacper Kubaszewski

Culinary tourism in Bulgaria 173

Agnieszka Rzeska

Góra Świętej Anny (Saint Anne Mountain) as a tourist resort in the opinion of respondents

191

Patrycja Hućko

Oasis retreats as a form of religious tourism in the light of contemporary demographic changes: a case study of the Archdiocese of Przemyśl

209